

Cindy L. Freeman began writing after retiring from a long career in music education and music ministry. A published author of novels, blogs, and award-winning essays, she also edits for High Tide Publications. In her novels, she tackles sensitive subjects where strong women find the courage to overcome adversity.

Cindy lives in James City County, Virginia with her husband, Carl. They have two amazing children, five favorite grandchildren, and numerous grand dogs.

Cindy L. Freeman's books, Unrevealed, The Dark Room, I Want to Go Home, and After Rain are available from Amazon or High Tide Publications.
